To date only 48.36 per cent of the year's quota of $75,000 has been reached with November sales of $4,035 upping the total sales to $36,275. Hancock ranks 12th from the bottom among Mississippi's 89 counties in bond sales this year.

LIGHTING DEADLINE

Saturday is the deadline to enter Bay-Waveland Garden Club's annual Christmas lighting contest, reminds Mrs. Joseph Kern, chairman. Judging will take place Sunday evening. Entries showing address of the display and a classification—doorway, picture window or outdoor—should be mailed to Miss Veronica Mehr, 135 DeMontezuma Ave.

Two students traffic fatalities

Highway tragedy struck Hancock County early this Christmas season when two juniors at Hancock North Central School were killed in separate accidents over the weekend as well as one other local man and two others lay in critical condition at Baptist hospital in Jackson. A former North Central student died in one of the wrecks.

James Paul Seal, 15, of Deleaux became the county's second traffic fatality of 1962 when he died Saturday morning at a Poycune Hospital from injuries suffered in a one-car crash Saturday on the Catahoula Road.

Jennifer Jackie Fay Odom, also 15, of Leetown, was killed in a two-car smash Sunday morning on Route 13 six miles north of Columbia which was fatal also to a Jackson mother and her two children.

Lloyd L. Hill, 23, of Fenton, was killed last Wednesday evening when the car in which he was riding collided with a Mobile-bound special Louisville and Nashville train at Mississippi City. Mrs. Wanda Mae Gambill, 17, who attended North Central last year in the same class as Seal and the Odom girl, also was killed in this crash.

Critically injured in the wreck north of Columbia were Mrs. Chester Lee of Leetown and her daughter, Claudette. Mrs. Lee, aunt of Jennifer, underwent surgery Tuesday at Baptist hospital while Claudette was reported still in a coma and had lost the sight of one eye.

JENNIFER ODOM

PAUL JAMES SEAL

Several bus loads of North Central students attended the funerals of their two popular classmates early this week.

Sheriff Gerald V. Price said he had not yet a formal report on the Seal fatality and was dispatching a deputy to investigate. Informal sources said the boy was riding in a car driven by Mickey Cuevas at the time of the crash.

Born in Bay St. Louis April 15, 1947, young Seal was the son of J. C. Seal and Mrs. Vira Lea Malley Seal. He was active in Future Farmers of America work and besides the parents is survived by two brothers, Jerry J. and Ronald Ray Seal, and a sister, Brenda Ann Malley Seal. Final rites were at Fenton Catholic Church Monday morning with burial in Sand Hill Cemetery. Jennifer, a North Central ma-jorante, member of the Future Homemakers of America and 4-H Club, was buried Tuesday morning from Lee's Chapel No. 2 with interment in Leetown Cemetery. Rev. J. E. Moore officiated. Born June 12, 1947, in Gulfport, she was the daughter of Hugh Hillary Odom and Mrs. Hazel Kirkland Odom. Besides her parents surviving are three sisters, Mrs. James Larry Rester, Carolyn Linda and True Virginia Odom, and a brother, Hillary, Jr.

Graveside services were Monday morning at Rotten Bayou Cemetery for Lloyd Hill. A county employee, he is survived by the widow, Mrs. Willie Mae Hill; a son, Billy Ray; daughter, Darlene; his mother, Mrs. Ashe Hill of Saucier and a sister, Virginia Hill.

Waveland moves ahead on water improvements

Another step toward an enlarged water system was taken by Waveland Town Council last week when it authorized Mayor Garfield Lader to enter into a contract with Barnard and Burk, Inc., Baton Rouge consulting engineers, for engineering and supervision of the project, for which the town hopes to receive federal aid through the Community Facilities Administration.

Initially the firm, represented at the meeting by K. J. Thomas, will do the preliminary work needed to estimate the cost and prepare the specifications for a bond issue. For this work it will receive nothing unless the bonds are sold.

M. A. Saunders, head of M. A. Saunders Co., Memphis investment brokers who purchased the current revenue bonds of the Waveland Gas and Water System, told council he had "never seen a city with its finances in better shape. All your funds are full."

Hold negro as suspect in thefts

One Negro is being held in the county jail for questioning in connection with a recent series of break-ins in Waveland, Sheriff Gerald V. Price reported this week. He said the man was picked up with a large number of nickels and quarters in his possessions. Two other suspects were released after investigation.

The sheriff said another break-in is under investigation at Beach Economy Drugs, someone having entered the place before opening time Tuesday. However nothing appeared to have been taken. A sizeable haul of drugs was stolen from Beach Drug in the spring.

Also occupying the sheriff's office was the theft of a station wagon belonging to Mark Oliver from his home on Old Spanish Trail. It was later found abandoned in a wooded area about a mile away off Nicholson Avenue. It had been stripped of two wheels and radio along with a shotgun and rifle which Oliver had packed in it the night before in preparation for a hunting trip.

On the basis of that the banker said he would be willing to purchase $50,000 in bonds, and $150,000 if needed and circumstances did not change, notwithstanding they could only be secured by a second mortgage and would be difficult to sell "unless the buyer knows Waveland like I do". He said the interest rate would be the same as on the outstanding bonds.

To Alderman Dominick Sanction, the question of funds for purchase of a fire engine could be included in the bond issue. Saunders replied "off hand I'd say no" and said such should be financed with general obligation bonds.

Dan M. Russell, Jr., town attorney, caused a flurry of verbal action when he unexpectedly submitted his written resignation which was subsequently deferred. In his letter Russell explained that, agreeable as his association with the municipality over the past four years had been and as much as he thought had been accomplished, the town's plans for possible annexation and other matters connected with its probable growth would require so much legal work that added to defense of the $500,000 damage suit brought against Waveland by John Eckler, routine municipal matters, and the demands of his office he might not have time to properly do the work except at the expense of his law partner and his family.

The attorney also criticized Waveland officials for lack of cooperation in helping locate witnesses and other matters connected with defense of the damage suit, and repeatedly emphasized to them that the suit was a serious

Polly At Waveland

Due to the fact that your reporter is wordy and that our large Christmas issue poses problems only of interest to the editor, this week's column will be divided into two sections. . . . The first installment will include the woes of the world in general and your waterless writer in particular! Of course the blizzard-blank weather is responsible for most of the troubles. . . . guess an explanation of what caused such foulness of humor is in order.

Story of the pipes

Thought we had it made as only one leak in a three pipe connection appeared with the thaw, so assisting the original do it yourself plumber and incidentally husband, we crawled under a cold, wet house and fought flashlights, wrenches for an hour or so, but figured anything was worth the sacrifice just to see real, wet, running water once more—we did—stresses, jets, geysers and what-have-you from just about every pipe beneath the abode when the water was turned on. . . . so this weeks contribution comes from the most disgusted, frustrated and probably one of the dirtiest writers ever!

Just about everybody has a sad tale to tell although some were vice and wrapped pipes during the heat-wave last summer—very few radiators suffered as service stations poured gallons upon gallons of anti-freeze into cars last Tuesday.

Wallace Burge's voice was a casualty of the frigid wave—trembling around turning off water for residents gave him a terrible case of laryngitis.

Babbie and Max Tralles were in somewhat better shape than last year, as they didn't have to pick up children, dogs, etc., and duck to New Orleans when the temperature inside the house refused to rise above 42 degrees—this year it hit a fairly comfortable 68.

Clarise and Oswald Villere had broken pipes, as did Ann Peterson, Joan and Red Glass, who were also concerned with saving recently planted citrus trees. The Earl Caseboms had a similar worries. . . . their grove was smugly wrapped in numerous wool blankets.

Wooing the plumbers

Still the anti-freeze discussions prevail—and plumbers are wooed as ardently as were Southern belles in days of yore! Bud Phillips almost had dual troubles running into a live wire searching for leaks—Dr. John Dickson was more fortunate having no trouble in Sears Avenue home, but checked his former abode for its present owner, and found a number of miniature water falls!

Allan Noonan is home for Christmas; in fact, home to stay having put in the past four years in Uncle Sam's Navy.

Recent guests of Forest Bourgeois and family were Mr. and Mrs. John Casebome and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Asher and family, all of New Orleans.

Thelma LaFontaine spent last weekend in Biloxi where she visited Ruth Ladner.

Twenty-five of Sandra Hickey's schoolmates helped her celebrate her 12th birthday at her Sears Avenue home recently. Guests enjoyed games, sandwiches, soft drinks, and of course ice cream and cake.

On the sports front

Just about everybody is too busy to do much angling these days but one of the real pros, Harold Zimmerman, assured us that the specs were biting the last time he went out. Not much time for hunting either, but Teddy Stechmann has announced his intentions of bagging numerous rabbits the moment the season opens.

Legionnaires have everything just about ready for their annual Christmas party at the Legion home Monday afternoon, it's always a gala affair and the shining eyes of children receiving gifts from Santa is something wonderful to behold.

Margie and Sidney Woods arrived in Hazelhurst Saturday just in time to attend the marriage of his sister Doris to Purvis Middleton. After returning from a honeymoon (destination unknown) the newlyweds will reside in Crystal Springs, where Purvis manages the Crystal Springs Gas Co.

We were truly sorry to learn that good friend 'Chris the barber' Ledner suffered a heart attack Saturday morning. . . . hope he's well on the road to recovery.

Complaint dept.

This is mostly from Bay residents who are more than a little put out by lack of water pressure. We just aren't prepared for such temperature extremes and of course many homes are vacant from Labor Day until early June—so it's inevitable that water is cascading freely from numerous broken pipes in vacant houses. . . . precious water that's urgently needed. . . . it's too late this time. . . . but may we suggest that it only take a minute to shut off your water valve if you plan to be away during cold weather—this precaution will also eliminate many plumbing bills.

Bay side of the news

More get well wishes—"Brother" Ramsey is reported to be improving after suffering a severe attack last Friday—hope he'll be up and around in time to enjoy the holidays. Tom Logue didn't seem to be suffering from premature old age symptoms when we glimpsed him twisting at a party last Labor Day weekend, but perhaps the hospital staff doesn't concur. . . . their gift to him was a large, comfortable easy chair. The population increase progresses more rapidly than many realize—First Presbyterian Church welcomed 25 new members last month.

Lorraine Kidd normally has her hands full with the restaurant and seven little kids (lousy pun) still at home. . . . so we'll send her a special wish for speedy recovery from the flu!

Sorry to hear that bridegroom-to-be, Lt. Myron Smith, Jr., suffered a fractured leg—he's hospitalized in England where he's stationed—fortunately his intended is a nurse.

Council members protested
Russell's plan to resign and Alderman John Longo asked if he would still represent Waveland in the Eckler's suit even if he resigned and "can we have some time to consider this".
Ladner said the officials would certainly cooperate in preparation for the pending suit and that in view of the cost involved it was foolish for the town to consider annexation at this time and council appeared to drop this idea for the present.

It all wound up with Russell agreeing to continue as attorney and see what developed.
Present for the meeting besides Ladner, Longo, Sonier and Russell were Alderman Tony Bourgeois, Secretary C. O. Da-four and Town Marshal Fred Bourgeois.

Speaking of broken legs... we'll send get well wishes to Elaine Seimle who's forced to accomplish all Christmas chores from a wheel chair having broken her leg when she fell out of the sink... wonder what in the world she was doing in the sink???? More get well greetings—Mrs. Aline Grass has been a patient in Mercy Hospital since she suffered a stroke Dec. 1. Son Albert and daughter-in-law Lillian journey to the city to visit her almost daily.

Sort of unusual ailment for this time of year, but Mrs. Herbert Ratenburg is suffering from a miserable case of poison ivy. Wonder what Mrs. Clara Mae Hamilton and Mrs. Peter Hancock of Honolulu, Hawaii, thought about our climate last week—they were guests of the Pete Noto family and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cook respectively.

When it rains...

Bill Yennie really has his hands full. Mrs. Yennie has been hospitalized several times in recent weeks, confined to bed and is anticipating the arrival of their second child any day now. Their son came down with a case of scarletina and the registered German Shepherd required treatment by the vet for infected glands—to top it off he's not only been working on his usual days off but also helping friends mend broken pipes.

Speaking of plumbing we're reminded on an incident which occurred last January... this discussion was then, as now about ruptured pipes and someone mentioned to Edith Carver (Mrs. Warren) the fact that she'd been fruitlessly calling the company for several days—Edith's reply—"I know exactly what you mean—I finally called someone in the Pass!"

Guess Wall Street will be the next step in the speculating career of Dickie Perry—he's going to begin operations with a jeep promotion!

In icy seas

It was COLD just about everywhere last week—but two couples and their captain marooned on Free Mason Island from last Monday until Thursday had it rougher than most. Dr. and Mrs.

Robin Pitale has 3rd birthday foto

Robin Pitale celebrated her third birthday Sunday afternoon with a party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Pitale, Jr. Her cake was designed as a hobby horse in pastel colors.

Joining Robin for the occasion were Sandra, Tony, Phillip and Kenny Gayant, Bobby Fayard, Sherrie Elliott, Barbara, Brenda Bruce, Bryan and Brent Mader, Chuck, Jim, Kelly and Debbie Poolson and Kim and Harlie Scieff.

J. L. Custer (she's Meg Battendorf's niece) of Shreveport and hosts, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Furlow, of Chattanooga, Tenn., who own a summer home in Pass Christian, set out for a pleasure cruise on the Furlow yacht. The pleasure was short-lived as the boat went aground just off the island and sprung a leak. The party was taken from the sinking vessel by Eustis Beaxy, who owns a fishing camp on Free Mason. They had food, and shelter, but the only source of heat was one pet belled stove. shiver, shiver, shiver.

SIGHTS AND SOUNDS ALONG THE WAY

Holly, pyracantha, poinsettias and similar colorful plants blazing in seasonal glory, appeared to be stationary whitecaps cuddled against the beach last week, actually, just plain ice frozen as it hit the shore and mounting excitement in children's voices—they don't let little things like below freezing weather and accompanying inconveniences interfere with the fact that Santa's arrival is imminent.

Brown-Loup nuptials said at ceremony on Sunday

The marriage of Miss Rima Inez Loup, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Felix Loup of Waveland, to Robert Dwight Brown, III, son of Mrs. Brown, II, and the late Mr. Brown of New Orleans, was solemnized at 1 p.m. Sunday at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

Rev. Michael Kelly performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with arrangements of white chrysanthemums. Nuptial music was furnished by Professor Joseph Hamersbach.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a chapel length gown of white lustrous silk satin featuring high round neckline with yoke of Chantilly lace, fitted bodice ending in a long point at the back with clusters of seed pearls applied at the waistline. Her long, tapered sleeves ended at points over her hands and were closed with tiny covered buttons. The sheath skirt was beneath a very full overskirt, short in front ending in a slightly longer rear drape. Her shoulder length veil of illusion fell from a miniature crown of seed pearls. She carried a cluster of white rosebuds on her prayer book.

Mrs. James Hull of New Orleans was Miss Loup's matron of honor. Her street length dress of shell pink taffeta was fashioned similar to that of the bride, her headpiece a small matching pillbox. She carried a cascade of feathered white carnations.

Paul Felix Loup, III, brother of the bride, was best man. Another brother, James Wilkins Loup, and brother-in-law, Leonard Lucien Benvenutti, ushered.

The Loup home, where the reception took place after the ceremony, was decorated with a profusion of poinsettias and flocked magnolia leaves. The bride's table was centered with the wedding cake flanked with arrangements of white chrysanthemums in crystal bowls and white napers in crystal candelabra.

Mrs. Loup chose a costume suit of winter blue wool with imported heavy matching lace sets in the collar and yoke. Her feather hat was blue as were her other accessories. Mrs. Brown wore a softly tailored suit of blue silk shantung with black accessories. Their sculptured corsages were feathered white chrysanthemums.

For travelling to a Florida honeymoon Mrs. Brown wore a lime green suit, multi-colored flower petal pill box hat and darker green accessories. Upon their return they will be at home in New Orleans.

Fayard and Santinelli rites Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Santinelli announce the marriage of their daughter, Jeanette Florence, to Michael Anthony Fayard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fayard, all of Bay St. Louis.

The marriage was quietly solemnized at 3:30 p.m., Dec. 15 at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church. Rev. Gerard Cleary officiated.

Miss Santinelli wore a street length dress of beige crepe featuring lace bodice, three-quarter sleeves and full skirt. Her headpiece was of white lace, her corsage, white carnations.

Mrs. Jack Ulrich of Pass Christian, her sister's matron of honor, wore a lilac dress identical to that of the bride with matching headpiece and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Huey Fayard served as his brother's best man.

A reception followed at the Santinelli home. Mrs. Santinelli wore a suit of brown wool with black hat and accessories. Mrs. Fayard's light green winter suit was complemented with accessories of brown. Their corsages were white carnations.

The couple are occupying their new home on Lakeside Drive, Waveland.

The bride is a graduate of Bay High School. The groom, who attended St. Stanislaus, is employed by Casanova Auto Parts.

A Christmas wish...

The twinkling lights of this happy season symbolize the joy and gladness proclaimed almost 2,000 years ago. During this time of hope and good will, it is well to reflect on our heritage as a free people and our attendant obligation to nurture and sustain our precious birthright. Freedom is not purchased without a price. All that is necessary for tyranny to triumph is for good men to do nothing. The shining star of Bethlehem that guided the Wise Men to the new born babe is still shining in the hearts of men of wisdom and courage. As a corporate participant in a free society, Mississippi Power recognizes its responsibilities to serve efficiently and dependably. By supplying the electric power to light your Christmas tree and ease your holiday chores, the employees of Mississippi Power feel they are sharing this most precious of all days with you. From us to you, best holiday wishes.

In boxing matches

Bay tops Pas

Getting off to a fast start, Bay boxers won seven of 12 matches Friday night over Pascagoula at the National Guard Armory.

Back Price's boys won seven of the first ten bouts before losing in the semi-final and final events to former Golden Glovers.

Phil Colson and Orville Ferrell opened up the card with decision victories, Colson in a 55-pound match and Ferrell in a 85-pound go.

Other Bay winners were Emile Bourgeois, scoring a knockout in a 115-pound bout; Danny Henry, claiming a decision in a 117-pound match; Roddy Henley, 125, scoring a second round knockout; Lamar Ladner, 133, winning a decision; and Johnny Favre, winning a unanimous decision.

Favre's victory was the highlight. The veteran, much improved according to his coach, downed Eric Luke, undefeated before Friday night.

Other Bay participants were Gary Marquar, David Marquar, Ernie Nette, Harvey Mitchell, and Frank 'Bar' Batterford. Nette was defeated on a loudly-boostered split decision.

Charles Breath, Jr., served as timekeeper, Alvin Charleston of Pascagoula was judge, and Biloxi coach Chester Comeaux, Waveland's Robert Ladner, August Scaffidi of Bay St. Louis, and Terrell Randolph of Pascagoula were referees.

Price also cited the work of his assistants: Luke Maridich, Donald Marquar, sr., Curtis Colson, John Gottschalk, and Leroy Coppelich.

Next matches will be Dec. 29 at the Armory against McComb with 12-15 bouts scheduled.

Beneath this 'Christmas Tree'... Natural Gas!

Yes, it's a Christmas Tree — a complex assembly of valves mounted at the head of a gas well to control the flow of gas from the well. A whole 'forest' of Christmas Trees, thousands of them, feed gas into the United Gas system. They are one of the few visible signs of the vast investment that has gone into wells, pipelines and distribution systems to provide dependable natural gas service to the Gulf South area we serve. Most of that investment is underground — in steel pipes which carry gas to our 600,000 customers. If placed end to end, our gathering, transmission and distribution lines would reach clear around the world. The next time you see a "Christmas Tree," think of United Gas — and its wonderful service to the cities and towns of the Gulf South.

Tigers, Hawks battle tonight
Scoring big in the first and third quarters, Bay High romped to a 59-53 victory over Improved Long Beach in Long Beach Tuesday night. It was the Tigers' sixth win against only one setback. The Tiger JV won, 29-27, and Bay High's ninth-graders' triumph, made a clean sweep of the triple-header.
Bay High took a 19-14 first quarter lead and never trailed. Richard Schaefer and Charles Bennett scored 21 and 20 points to pace Bay High. Toddo Thomas added 10.
The Tigers play host to Hancock North Central tonight in what promises to be one of the season's top attractions. Both squads have lost only one contest.

Members get acquainted party

Rigid blast greets newcomers at coffee

Members of the Bay-Wave Chamber of Commerce staged its semi-annual newcomers party to welcome newcomers to the sunny Gulf Coast but the newcomers didn't dampen the enthusiasm of the hosts. The newcomers were all out to show a warm welcome to the newcomers. The newcomers were all out to show a warm welcome to the newcomers. Those welcomed, the places from which they come and husbands' firm were: Mesdames Carl M. Phillips, Arlington, Tex., O. L. (Buddy) Farr, Alexandria, La., Edward E. Calvin, Iowa, all with the Corps of Engineers; Ronald V. Goette, Houston, Tex.; Edward Thomson, Glen Elly, Ill.; Rodrick Whannell, Seattle, Wash.; Ernest G. Rutledge, Bellevue, Wash.; Clarence E. MESDAMES LANDON, CARLSON, FARR, HORN AND WADE WITH SACKS FULL OF GIFTS. A survey of those attending established an average of 4.3 persons per family but with many unable to attend because of the weather the overall average is expected to run higher. Sixty-five have registered to date with the chamber. In her report to the chamber Mrs. Ducumb found the predominant reason for those locating here was to avoid crowded city (Cont. on Page 14.)

Saucier-Deschamp vows exchanged in Fenton rites

MRS. BOBBY SAUCIER

Midshipman Gary Blaize, second year student at U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., will arrive after Christmas for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. George L. Saucier, Jr., and family and spending the earlier part of the holiday season with his family in Tulsa, Okla.

St. Joseph Catholic Church at Fenton was the scene for the wedding Saturday of Miss Patricia Theresa Deschamp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Purvis Deschamp of Pass Christian, and Bobby Philip Saucier, son of Mrs. Philip Saucier of Poplarville and the late Mr. Saucier.

Rev. Vernon Danemann officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white nylon sheer, the bodice and long sleeves trimmed with threads of silver. Her veil was held in place by a headpiece trimmed with white pearls and her flowers were white carnations.

Miss Lena Mae Gorrigan, the maid of honor, was in a lavender gown with a white hat and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Curtis Deschamp of Pass Christian was best man and ushers were Lonnie Deschamp and Philip Hoda.

A reception followed at Kilm Youth Center where arrangements of white gladioli were used in decorations. Assisting the bride party in receiving were Mrs. Philip Hoda wearing a tan wool suit with black accessories, and Mrs. Billy Pieroch in green wool with black accessories.

When the couple left on their wedding trip to Pensacola, Fla., the bride was wearing a rose wool dress with black accessories and white carnations at the shoulder. They will live in Poplarville on their return.

The bride studies at Hancock North Central School and the groom is a graduate of Savannah High School.

Among out of town guests attending the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Warren and children of Meridian.

Christmas chatter with Polly peers

Deck the Halls with Boughs of Holly or something to that effect anyway! Christmas, the boldest and happiest holiday of all, is all but upon us and although everyone protests they just aren't ready for it, there's a spirit of gaiety in the air—this year's decorations in stores, homes, yards and even on rooftops are more colorful and plentiful than ever before. The Herbert Ratsburgers even have their mailbox converted into a gift package. Town Hall looks like a Christmas card picture with the lovely tree, and abundance of pine and bright lights.

In our area any excuse for a party is a good one, but during the Yuletide season, they're bigger and better than ever! Sidelines Club members held their annual soiree Saturday night.

Another event of note will be the Couple's Club dance and buffet supper. It's to be at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club Saturday night from 9 o'clock. Gloria and Her Playmates will furnish music for dancing. Local Garden Clubs enjoyed Christmas meetings—Bay-Waveland and Lakeshore groups held theirs last Thursday—Bay-Waveland, at the Garden Center; Lakeshore at Annie's Restaurant. Blue Jeans gardeners exchanged gifts and lunch at Annie's Monday.

Each member of the Lakeshore group was presented with a lovely corsage, hand made by hostess Marian Elliott (aided and abetted by neighbor Anna Gayout). Two glittering centerpieces were fashioned by Gerri Blanchard—her pale green toothpick tree and basket of original ornaments drew oohs and aahs from everyone viewing her handiwork.

Guess Mrs. Marcel Gillis gets our award of the week—wondered why she smiled so brightly Saturday a.m. until she explained that she'd accomplished all of her Christmas shopping a whole week previously.

Berry Klein is one lucky young woman. Her husband Frank is presenting her with a lovely new champagne hued automobile for Christmas.

Hazel Breland is another who's happy with one of her gifts. . . son Donald (U. S. Navy) sent her a very fancy hair dryer.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Seagraves—he's with the Corps of Engineers will spend the holidays in their home town, Athens, Ala. Phyl and Jimmy Lagasse plan a fairly quiet celebration—daughter Gaynell will be home from the Crescent City and Phyl's mamma will join the family group.

An extra special holiday wish is sent to Sara and John Munch who will observe their silver wedding anniversary at an open house Sunday. Their Waveland Avenue home is already elaborately decorated for the festive occasion and being familiar with Sara's culinary talents, we know the food will be fabulous.

Mrs. Peter Monroe left last Sunday for Virginia Beach, Va., where she will be the guest of her daughter and son-in-law, the James Lacours.

Related birthday wishes to Mrs. A. P. Smith and Mrs. E. Mogabgab who were feted by the 'birthday group' at the home of Mrs. Vic Leveau last Wednesday.

And joint birthday greetings go to three of the Lynch girls. . . Ann entertained a group of eight-year-old friends at a hamburger luncheon Saturday; Laurie celebrated her seventh at a family gathering Sunday and Harriet observed her third Wednesday. (She was really born Christmas Eve, but that caused a little too much confusion.)

Two people who will henceforth have double cause for revelry Dec. 25 are lovely Margie Rowan and Jay Lentant who will be quietly wed Christmas Day. Margie, who hails from New Orleans, is a long time friend of the Lentant family and all of their friends are wishing them nothing but the very best.

Jon Brameyer received a most unusual gift to say the least—an authentic Australian boomerang!

Jerome Carver presented his wife with an out-of-this-world gift a few days early—it's a very fancy, champagne colored automobile. Bert Stieff passed out cigars all over town Monday—wife Merle presented him with their first daughter Sunday night. Congratulations are due Cathy and Wayne Davis—she's knitting little garments in anticipation of the arrival of their first son or daughter. . . (anyway she would be knitting them if she had time.) O. B. Moore will desert the Bay and spend Christmas in Mobile with his mother, Mary Wood arrived Sunday for a two week visit with her sister Bess Wagner, the boys and Bess' mother, Mrs. Clark. Judging by Jackie Bufkin's purchases, little Guy will find enough toys under his tree to last him well into adulthood.

A number of local animal lovers are most pleased with Christmas cards received by their pet—the attractive greetings are addressed to animals who have been treated by Dr. Akaro. . . Neil Ducomb's cat, Pixie, was one of the recipients. Speaking of animals. . . although not really, as pelicans are fowls, we've been asked to mention the fact that those of the brown variety are all but extinct—as our neighboring

Miss Necaise is wed to Henry Steen

Church of the Annunciation of Kilm was the scene of the wedding at 4 p.m., Dec. 1 of Miss Myrna Fay Necaise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicole J. Necaise, Jr., of Kilm, to Henry Steen, son of Mrs. Angeline Bounds of Bay St. Louis and Hans Steen of Kilm. Rev. Vernon Danemann was celebrant at the double ring ceremony.

For the occasion the bride chose a white wool sheath complemented with a gold belt and jewelry, a white fur hat, brown accessories and a corsage of white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Joel Cooley of Gretna, La., matron of honor, selected a brown suit with matching accessories and white chrysanthemums at the shoulder.

Teddy Bilbo of Bay St. Louis was best man.

A reception followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Necaise where a white curlew cloth covered the bride's table centered with the three-tiered wedding cake which was topped with the traditional miniature bride and groom. White carnations and fern trimmed the table with a cut glass punch bowl and candelabras completing the decor.

After a short honeymoon the couple is now residing at 203 St. George St., Bay St. Louis.

stote, Louisiana generously donated a pair of white pelicans to Greece, perhaps they'll reciprocate by giving us some brown ones.

Message from Kate Seux who needs an assist of some kind due to the fact that she is about these days—a mishap to the family car Saturday night—Merry Christmas to all—she, like a number of us, have agreed to extend personal greetings to those we see almost daily in lieu of swapping cards—rising postal rates have cut down on more than a few who formerly mailed gobs each year. What was the Christmas gift Lester Haverly promised Bessie sometime last summer. . . wonder if he recalls the item????

A Christmas gift

About half way across the Bay Bridge Tuesday and going the legal speed limit we were wondering what Christmas presents to give to whom, when two cars and a tractor-trailer truck passed and reached the end of the bridge five or six hundred yards ahead of us.

Our mind about that time switched to the many warnings from the Public Safety Commission about driving. Repeatedly they warn about excessive speed, driving after drinking intoxicants, and other things. At holiday times we are cautioned about driving often fatigued and about impatience because of increased traffic.

And then we thought of the tragedy of the three wrecks that last week killed three from our county as well as killing and injuring others, and all this time here we were driving, without all our mind on the business at hand, to wit, driving.

A mighty good Christmas present we could give is to Drive Safely.

Could get this

As 1962 reaches to an end just about anybody can think of of many things Bay St. Louis needs. Most of these things will, unfortunately, require the expenditure of money in large sums. However, there is one need that depends primarily on suitable volunteers from our midst—an improved and enlarged fire department.

This is certainly meant as no criticism of our paid firemen or of the volunteers who have done such a good job. One has only to remember the fires they have controlled or helped to control such as Carter's grocery and the old Sancier home on Main Street.

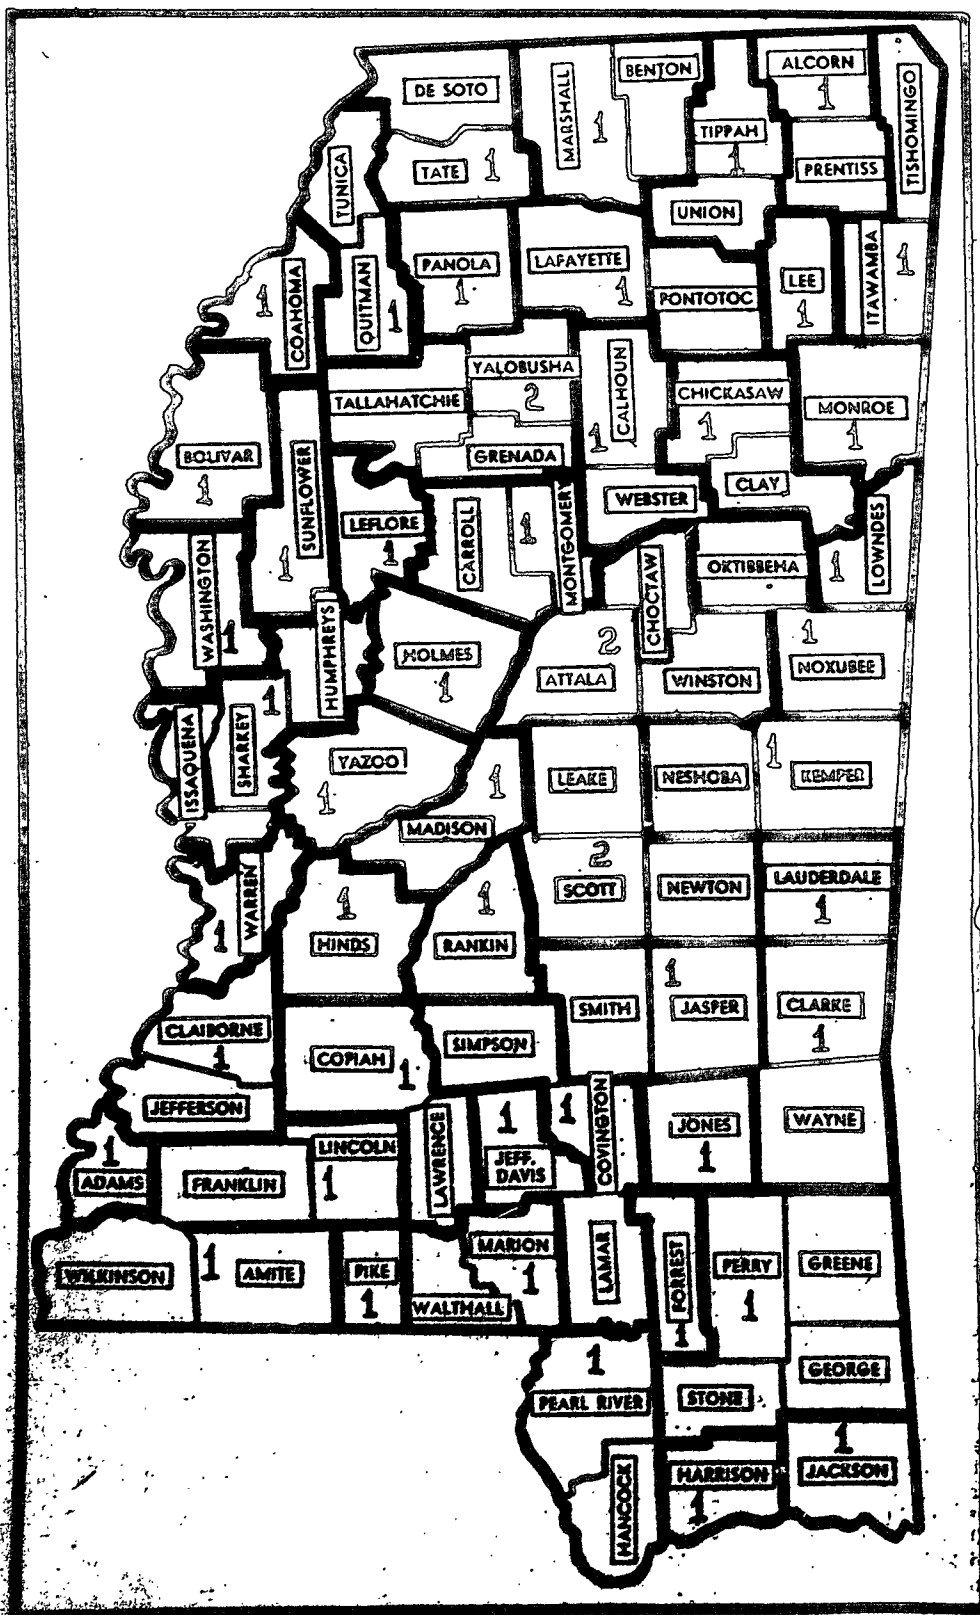

Our people come through and help but we do need an organized volunteer fire group and so does civil defence, and we do need a fire station with pump on the southwest side of the railroad in case a train blocks the crossings.

Mayor John Scalfide says the city will find the money for the equipment if the volunteer group gets properly organized. Next step, contact Mr. Lucian Kidd, Bay St. Louis Civil Defense Director.

Our nomination for meanest man-of-the-year (or woman) is the one who indiscriminately puts out poison in an urban area killing other people's pets. The Echo was called by a tearful lady asking how she could explain Christmas to her two young children whose chow dog had just been poisoned. We didn't have the answer. Do you?

'Hypnotique' was here last week!

I CAN HEAR THOSE FIRE SIRENS

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

Sylvester Calls Lying 'Basic'

Embattled assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester recently defended the Kennedy administration's new manipulation policy to a New York journalistic audience. Patting his listeners gently on the head, he stated: "It is basic throughout history that it is the government's right—and therefore the people's right—to lie to save itself. It seems to me basic."

Now, this may be basic in the New Frontier, and it is certainly basic in the United States of America. President Kennedy could not be on a more wrong track if he were flying upside down to the moon. Nor on a less authorized track, either.

The Behistun Rock on the road to Babylon carries an inscription: "The reign of the lie." It was inscribed by Darius, the Great, asserting he'd destroyed such a reign in Babylon. Darius, come back!

White House spokesman Pierre Salinger stated on December 5: "I am saying no Soviet reconnaissance overflights have taken place here, period." Is this true or is Mr. Salinger merely being basic? Ladies and gentlemen, Mr. Salinger is merely being basic.

African experts claim that when a Swahili chief asserts he probably lies, but if he swears he certainly lies. At the high top of the New Frontier, in turn, truth has become democratic. Everybody has one vote. This nominalism in the realm of integrity is not devoted to what is true. It is devoted to "how do we look?" That's the record, and it's a very dangerous record, indeed.

In the case of the Soviet's missile lodgement, which began with missile deliveries correctly reported by the Cuban underground as early as January 16 but denied by Washington, the administration puff-puffed through three distinct phases in its basic kabuki. Cuba has embarrassed President Kennedy ever since the Bay of Pigs. Thus the first White House reaction to the Soviet penetration there was to tuck it under the bed. This attempt failed when too many newspapermen simply would not roll over and play dead. Were they to hang their harps upon the willow and sit idle by the water of Babylon? Not in the U.S.A.

Phase two: The spokesman finally admitted, yes, Soviet missiles were in Cuba—but the President insisted these were "defensive." Washington equated them with the known perils of a cucumber sandwich. Finally, the thesis became just too preposterous to defend.

Phase three: Secretary of State

Dean Rusk and everybody and his brother—including the President and his brother—conducted a series of behind-the-scenes briefings to convince newsmen and others that we must "play down Cuba" because if Mr. Kennedy took action in Cuba, "which is what the Soviet wants us to do," the Kremlin would blow the lid off Berlin. White House clansmen McGeorge Bundy, Walt W. Rostow and others were still plugging this contention on TV the very week before the President's October 22 action.

And when Mr. Kennedy finally did act on October 22 he had been wrong about the growing danger, wrong about the Latin-American reaction, wrong about our allies, wrong about the Soviet retaliation in Berlin, wrong about Russia and wrong about the American people. Moreover, and most of all (as if anything were left), he had been wrong about trying to manipulate the earlier news throughout 1962 to prove that he was right.

The New Frontier is sick in the truth department. Mr. Sylvester's statement exposes this fault dramatically. This introduces a note of human sadness. These intelligent New Frontiersmen have never understood the place which integrity has in all the ramifications of life. This is combined with the bureaucratic desire never, never to be recorded as wrong.

In the rarefied air of great power, quickly achieved and exercised in the sun of success, it is very easy to grow to feel that the end justifies the means. Yet America is a legal, not regal, state. We have simply been warned by Mr. Sylvester, by the record and by events that the battle to learn the truth must be intensified and broadened. It will be. Those who oppose that battle are playing a dangerous game, an unworthy, an ignoble game—and a losing game as well.

Things people say without newspapers

NEW YORK (AP) — Vignettes of a newspaper-less town:

A disgruntled television viewer sat before his set and snapped at his wife, "how am I going to find out what's on? We haven't got a TV page."

A radio disc jockey put aside his record and began reading aloud:

"... the next picture shows Dagwood slomping the door on the salesman and saying, 'the bathroom's the only place I can get some peace around this house.'"

The comic pages had taken to the air.

At an out-of-town newspaper stand in Times Square, a man walked up, bundled against the snow, and said, "I'd like a paper."

"What paper?" asked the vendor.

"Any paper," the man replied, "just as long as I've got something to read."

On a subway platform, two men rushed through the train door and made for something scarce. No, not a seat. A couple of pages of an abandoned two-day-old newspaper. Elsewhere on the platform, a woman scrounged through a newspaper container, looking for the same thing.

"Let's go to a movie," said the man.

"Okay," said her friend, "what playhouse? Look in the newspaper—oh, that's right, there aren't any."

"I'll call the movie house," said the man.

A pause as No. 2 dialed.

"We'll," said No. 1, "what's playing?"

"I don't know, the line's busy. I hear everybody's calling."

In a Manhattan bar, "how'd our team make out?" asked the bartender.

"I don't know," replied the customer.

"Hey, Joe," (calling to a friend down the line), "did you get any scores?"

"No," said Joe, "haven't seen a paper."

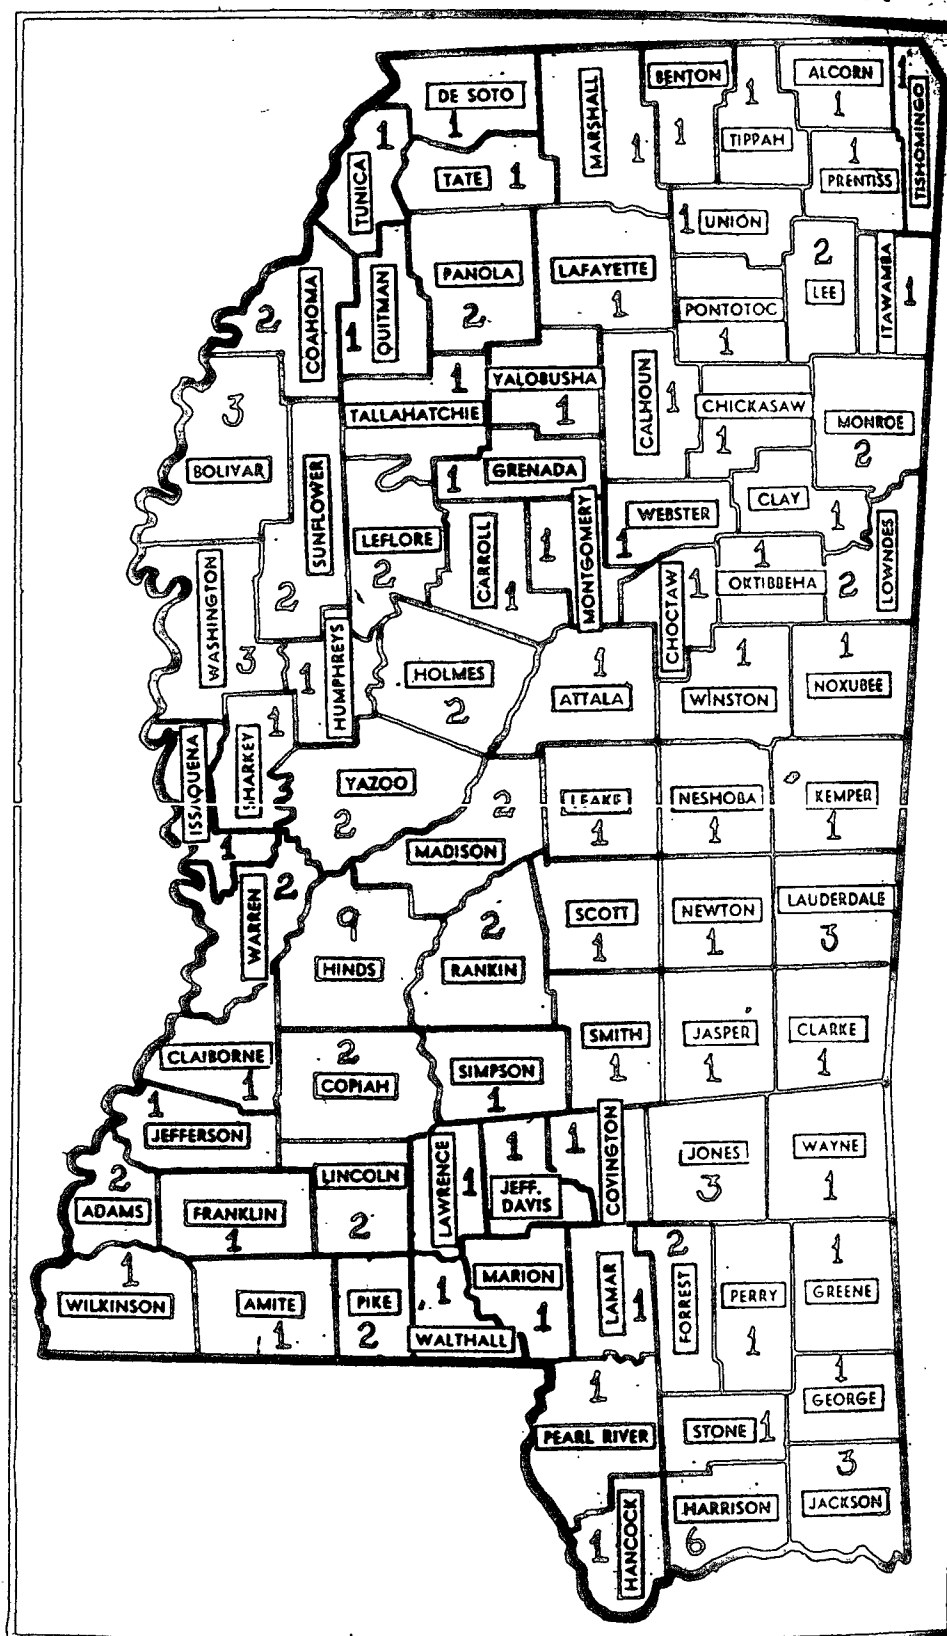

The bartender, turning on the radio, advised: "maybe we can get it on here."

And throughout the city, where nearly 10 per cent of the nation's newspaper circulation is normally distributed each day, the people went hungry for news.

They turned to radio and television, to news magazines and publications with TV-radio program listings to get the answers.

So they wouldn't have to say, "I don't know."

Yes, West Virginia, There Is A Santa

By GEORGE HANNA

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — In the spirit of the season; for no other reason; we thought this time; we'd tell in rhyme.

(All, to tune of "Jingle Bells"—more or less:)

Dashing through the snow,
Santa didn't wait;
He went straight to court,
To see the magistrate.

This was Santa's flax,
Sunday work they say
Is much akin the law
In West Virgin-ia-y

Alone old St. Nick stood,
No one the blame would place,
"Go," the J.P. said,
"After Christmas, this we'll face."

Santa, 300-pound Kenneth Chaffin, was one of 13 persons arrested Sunday in a drive on discount stores allegedly violating West Virginia's Sabbath blue law.

Resplendent in red and white costume, he appeared Friday for hearing on misdemeanor charges before Magistrate Emory Waugh.

But Prosecutor Russell C. Dunbar, who initiated the charges, failed to appear—barely a week before Christmas. Waugh continued the case until January 4.

So:

Yes, West Virginia, there is a Santa Claus.

(And if you've read this far; this more we have won't say:)

No cause to worry, kids,
Let nothing you dismay,
Christmas this year is Tuesday.
—Sunday's not the day.

ALL I SAID WAS 'IS IT COLD ENOUGH FOR YOU?' AND HE ...

HNC students hear of news, teacher careers

Richard Knowlton, photographer and reporter for The Picayune Item, spoke to the student body of Hancock North Central Dec. 7, about careers in the newspaper field.

For those with a nose for news flair for excitement, and a constant "why" on their lips, the newspaper career will provide gratification, he declared, urging students who are interested in this career to start as early as possible writing for the school paper and/or getting a job with the local newspaper, even if there is no salary attached to it.

Mrs. Marjorie Cuevas, third grade teacher, stressed the many rewards (other than financial) a teacher receives, the continually increasing need for additional teachers, and the satisfaction of constantly learning more about the subject closest to each one's heart, when she spoke on the HNC career series, Dec. 11.

Teen Times

Hardier members of the younger set took advantage of two totally unexpected holidays (Thursday and Friday) to get some Christmas shopping accomplished. Others without Eskimo blood in their veins sat in warm houses and only looked as howling gales transformed the coast into an arctic waste. Stanislaus was the only local school remaining open and we must comment they're obviously out to build rugged bodies in that institution, as the boys were performing calisthenics in the usual brief attire Friday a.m.

Friday was sort of a busy day and night. Bay High's chorus came through with a lovely Yule program despite the fact that practice sessions were limited, due to the weather of course. The brand new robes added much to the presentation and choristers have worked long and hard selling refreshments at sports events to obtain funds for the new outfits. Lucien Ladner narrated, Melva Luke was lovely as Mary and Kay Dorich, Barbara Noonan, Karen Williams, Diane Ladner, Sondra Hinson and Theresa Breland looked quite heavenly as angels. Accompanists were Mrs. Tedford, Mrs. Smith, the Echo's sports editor, Harry Shattuck and Paula Crider, who gave an impromptu guitar rendition of Greensleeves, sung by Sam Cuevas.

Way-waveland boxers gave excellent accounts of themselves at the National Guard armory Friday night. Promoter Buck Price was all smiles as he walked away with the trophy. Frankie Batteford lost a very close decision in the main event but he had several severe handicaps. . . his opponent outweighed him by 14 pounds, he had trained only a week for the event and had an attack of virus to add to his woes. Local boys winning bouts were Rodney Henley, Orville Ferrell, Lannar Ladner and Emile Bourgeois.

College students have already begun to stream in for the holidays. . . the contingent from Southern arrived Wednesday the 13th. . . some of these were Sue Breath, Patti White, Cleo Moran, Nita Kay Erwin, Pennie Sue Webber, Carol Western, Millie Usher, Buddy Sauk, Jim Johnston, Gary Burrow, Alvin Bourgeois, etc., etc. Scheduled to arrive this week are Jean Larroux and Delta Jacob from Loyola, Janet Trapani, S.J., Jeannie Ling and Eileen Plunket from Our Lady of the Lake, Ripple Rausch and Wynne Heath from LSU, Freddie Delph, Ronnie Russell, Albert Brignac, Ronnie Russell, Freda Traub from MSCW and unteemed from PRC including Mildred Parker, Lana Taylor, Freda Perniciaro, Kathleen Schaeffer, Jimmy Giametta, Johnny Kramer, Linda Mazarakis, Kenny Develle and Jimmy Loup.

O. J. Asher has lots of artistic talent—he's responsible for Herlby's extensive Christmas decorating project.

Bay High students are preparing for the big Christmas dance in the school gym Friday night.

Father O'Brien, who was so successful in his work with young people in his former parish, is busily organizing a Catholic Youth group for the Waveland-Clermont Harbor area. A meeting was held at the Parish Hall last Wednesday night and Catholic students from all schools from ninth through 12th grades are invited to join.

Lana Taylor, Miss Bay St. Louis of 1962, sends holiday greetings to all. Lana has been busy with her studies at Pearl River Junior College where she is a member of the Spring of Pearls and has an article about them appearing in this week's issue of the college paper.

Shelton Bourgeois, Charles Necaise and Michael Necaise were presented trophies when their North Bay team captured first place honors in the Logtown Invitational tournament recently.

A belated birthday wish goes to Tunell Backlund. . . Tunell received a number of lovely gifts but think her favorite was a lovely wool outfit from Guess who? It's obviously ring swapping time—Georgia Necaise is sporting Jay Lenfant's and sister Connie has Ed Blalze's.

We hear that Sandra Jean Ladner and Shelton Bourgeois are a devoted twosome these days.

J. D. Rutherford is another who'll be returning home for the holidays.

Sympathy is in order for Cricket Bradford—is it true he got those skinned knees crawling back to B.V.?

Joe Morreale is the proud owner of a brand new car.

Pat Fanning is a lucky girl—a lovely dinner ring is to be one of her Christmas gifts.

SJA seniors will celebrate receiving their rings Thursday by eating at Tony's Piazzalhouse in Biloxi.

Bay High seniors are to receive theirs in assembly the same day. . . we're told that Mrs. Little's in for a slight surprise on that occasion.

Jean Herrion will spend the holidays at her home in Georgia. Mississippi State students here for Christmas include Shannon Prichard, Alfred Watts, J. E. Loiacano and Jimmy Chinciche. Charles, III, Elizabeth and Sherill Lyles will be feted at open house between 4 and 6 p.m. Sunday by their grandmother, Mrs. Ruth Woods Luderbach. Thirty former classmates at Christ Episcopal Day School will attend.

Ulrike Winckelmann, a sophomore at Southern, is picking up a little Christmas money working at Kern's.

Dennis Sauzeau spent a gay weekend at Ole Miss as the guest of Miss Fay Murpree in Barnard Hall and attended the Kappa Sigma

Christ school honor roll lists 26 pupils

Twenty-six pupils at Christ Episcopal Day School made the honor roll for the second six weeks of the current session. They are:

Third grade—Jimmy Ball, Richard Hadden, Shelly Johnston, Louise Ladner, Ben McMath, Debbie Ruhr, Lisa Wagner, Sherry Weddell; fourth—Merrily Allen, Patti Brameyer, Chris Dougher, Betty Johnson, Byron Wingo; fifth—Drew Allen, Susan Wingo; sixth—Penny Guest, Jim McCulloch, Patricia Maples, Joan Toop, Diane Wingo; sixth—Jack Howells; seventh—Nancy McDonald; and eighth—Nancy Allen, David Byrne, Lary Ratliff and Marshall Wilcox.

4-H council holds meeting

Piji White led the devotional when Linda Merritt and Millie Ling directed games and recreation when the county 4-H council met Saturday at the Agricultural Center. Mrs. Jeanne Williams, adult leader, joined the group.

Christmas formal escorted by Jody Gex.

Judy Tallac is recovering satisfactory and is expected home soon after a series of tests following a severe bout with pneumonia. Her parents said they will keep friends posted on her progress and will appreciate as few phone calls as possible.
